

Tuesday

Tuesday, we had our CLIL lessons. School started at 8am and the first lesson ended at 8.50 am. I was in group B, so I had the lesson by the teacher from Zwickau first. His name was Mr. Kreutz and he taught the pros and cons of tourism. We learned that there's not only one aspects but three. For the economic impact tourism is good, because it increases the income of the people living in this area and facilities are built in order of tourism. Tourism is also quite good for the socio-culture aspect. People who travel to a certain region can learn something about the culture of this area. The only negative aspect about tourism is the environmental impact. Tourists often don't care about the nature, so they leave litter for example.

The second lesson from 9 am to 9.50 am was taught by Ms. Ling from Augustenborg. Her topic was culture. She gave us several worksheets to tell us what culture is and how culture is defined. First, we had to write down everything we know about culture and what we think culture is. Then we compared culture to an iceberg, because you can only see the top of it and do not know much about what is under the water.

At 9.55 am we had a snack break for 20 minutes.

Then we had a workshop made by a man from "Klimabündnis". The workshop was on the topic "consumption". We sat in a circle and told each other what we know or connect to consumption. After that we worked in groups of six to present a specific topic about consumption. The whole workshop took two hours.

After lunch , which we had at 12.15 am, we had our next CLIL lesson at 12.55 am. The lesson by the Romanian teachers was about marketing and advertising. They gave us a text with gaps to fill out. Then they gave us photographs to make a poster of our own place to advertise.

Finally, we had the lessons by our own teachers from Rhauderfehn Ms. Kirch and Mr. Rollik. They taught about "Environment and tourism". When they asked the question: "What do you want to do in your holidays?" we had to choose between four possibilities: Have fun, have fun and discover something new, have fun and discover something new and relax or have fun and discover something new and relax and protect the environment. All students chose the third opportunity. Then we learned with many pictures and posters how tourism affects the environment. After the lesson, many students changed their mind and wanted to protect the environment, too.

This was the Tuesday in school.
